

NEW EXPLOSIONS IN OIL INQUIRY MAY TAKE PLACE

Fight Over Appointments Is Smouldering In Senate.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Despite the cessation of official activities because of the funeral of ex-president Woodrow Wilson, the Senate's oil investigation gained increased momentum today that may lead to new explosions involving additional high federal officials in the naval reserve leasing scandal.

Ever since the announcement by the White House of the appointment of Silas H. Strawn and Atlee Pomerene as special counsel to prosecute the oil cases, a fight of intensive proportions has been smouldering in the Senate over the selections. Open warfare is expected the moment the president forwards the names to the capitol for confirmation by the upper chamber possibly tomorrow or late this week.

Opposition to Strawn and Pomerene is not confined to partisan lines, certain factions of both the Republican and Democratic ranks being prepared to join in the onslaught.

Strawn's appointment is known to have incurred the ill feeling of the so-called Insurgent-Republican group because of his alleged connection with big business. Senator LaFollette, Republican of Wisconsin, leader of the group, and his lieutenant, Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, are said to be ready to head the onslaught at least to the extent of bitter verbal attacks.

In high Democratic ranks there was no concealing of resentment at the choice of Pomerene, especially with the manner of his selection by the White House. This faction charged that President Coolidge did not call in minority chiefs to suggest names for the Democratic counsel, but that after the selection was made, Senators Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, leader and Walsh, Democrat, Montana, chief assailant of the leases, were summoned to the White House for consultation.

Democrats feel that they have been "slandered" by the president, when the proper thing to have done was to have picked the counsel from a list of names advanced by Robinson and Walsh. It is known that Pomerene's name was not on the list Walsh presented after the appointment had been determined upon.

Insurgents have a further score against Pomerene in that he voted for the Esch-Cummins railroad law. The row stirred up between followers of William Gibbs McAdoo, and Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, as a result of Reed's demand that Doheny be questioned about payment of money to ex-cabinet officers grew more bitter today. McAdoo's friends countered with the charge that Reed himself was not free from connection with oil interests. They alleged that the Missouri senator represented the Universal Oil Products Company in litigation against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

Though not summoned, at least two of the men mentioned by Doheny as having received money from him in payment for professional services are expected to take the stand within a few days. They are McAdoo and George Crele, director of the bureau of public information during the war.

CANDLER WINS SUIT BROUGHT BY A WOMAN

Atlanta, Feb. 6.—The jury in the De Bouchel-Candler $500,000 breach of promise suit yesterday returned a verdict in favor of Asa G. Candler, Sr., the defendant.

Neither Mrs. Oneilma de Bouchel, of New Orleans, who sued Mr. Candler, nor the defendant, were in the courtroom when the verdict was returned. The jury was out about 45 minutes, and its verdict merely said: "We, the jury, find a verdict for the defendant."

Only one ballot was taken by the jury in its 30-minute deliberation. Mrs. De Bouchel had alleged breach of promise to marry in bringing her action against the Atlanta millionaire. A few minutes after the verdict Mr. Candler was found in the lobby of the Candler Building, surrounded by friends who were congratulating him. "I have no statement to make other than I am very happy," he said. "I didn't expect anything else."

Mrs. de Bouchel and a group of friends were eating lunch at her hotel when a reporter brought news of the verdict. Her attorney, Henry Gamble, of New Orleans, who left the table to receive the news, said the New Orleans society leader had no statement to make.

Mr. Candler's attorneys attacked the validity of the Reno, Nev. decree of September 21, 1921, which granted Mrs. De Bouchel a divorce from her husband, Adolph Roquet, of New Orleans, contending that she did not establish a domicile in Nevada. The decree being invalid, they contended she could not become engaged to marry Mr. Candler and therefore an engagement existing for that purpose was not legal. They asserted that there was not sufficient evidence presented to give grounds for recovering damages.

Mrs. de Bouchel's counsel upheld the validity of her divorce decree and said she had in every way complied with the laws of the state of Nevada. The New Orleans woman, they contended, had determined to divorce Mr. Roquet before she met Mr. Candler in Atlanta during the Confederate veterans' reunion in 1919. She had offered to release him from the engagement when it became apparent that there was opposition to the marriage on the part of his family but that he had refused to listen to the offer and insisted on the marriage. The wedding plans were all arranged, the tressouer for the bride had been made, announcement cards printed, Mrs. de Bouchel had shipped her furniture to Mr. Candler's home in Atlanta, and the wedding itinerary agreed upon, when, two days before the wedding, her petition declared, she received a letter from the Atlanta millionaire saying he could not marry her because it had been told him that two men had visited her room at the hotel in Atlanta while she was attending the Confederate reunion in Atlanta in 1919, at night, for improper purposes.

Mrs. de Bouchel said she demanded the names of the alleged two men but Mr. Candler declined to give them. She came to Atlanta finally, she asserted, in an effort to learn their names, but he steadfastly declined to make them known. Finally she said, she entered suit for $500,000 to force the information from him.

INDIANA TOWN HIT BY STORM NOW ISOLATED

Chicago Also Experiences Night of Blizzard— Wires Down

La Porte, Ind. Feb. 6.—(Via Radio)—LaPorte was near isolation today with crippled telephone and railroad communication as a result of the driving sleet and snow storm of the last three days. The storm played havoc with the telephone service in the county but in the city itself, the damage was not great. The telephone company reports 100 poles down between here and Kingsburg, and 50 between LaPorte and Union Mills. Several hundred are down between here and Chicago.

It has been impossible to reach Chicago by telephone for over a day. Only one line is in operation between LaPorte and South Bend, and only one to Michigan City. Telephone communications are nearly dead. Local newspapers were unable to receive the usual press association reports by wire and were forced to use radio.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—(Via Radio)—After a night of blizzard, heavy snow was still falling today with prospect, according to the local weather bureau, that it would continue for another 24 hours.

Patched up communication lines were making efforts to move the accumulated business of three days. Telephone and news service telegraph wires were still down today. Also the Western Union has much New York traffic held up. Radio stations cooperating with the news service were distributing news broadcast for cities cut off from Chicago.

International News Service was cooperating with the Westinghouse World Crier, KYW, to keep news moving. It works in ten minute periods every half hour.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The storm that was central over Indiana Tuesday morning, has continued to move slowly northeastward and now has two centers—one over Lake Huron and the other off the southern New England coast, the United States Weather Bureau announced today. Cloudy weather and local snows were predicted for tonight, and Thursday in the Ohio Valley, the lower Lake region and in portions of the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic states. The temperature will fall generally.

NEW YORK ACCORDS HOMAGE TO WILSON

New York Feb. 6.—New York today paid homage to the memory of Woodrow Wilson. The days ceremonies were ushered in at dawn when the guns in all the forts around this city boomed salutes.

One gun was fired at intervals of an hour all day long and at sunset to-night the national salute of 43 guns will be given.

Announcement was made that all business would be suspended "for a suitable period," when the services begin in Washington at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

An impressive memorial service at Madison Square Garden was arranged by the Woodrow Wilson foundation. Long before the hour for the service, a long line of men and women stood in the rain waiting a chance to enter. All officers attached to the Brooklyn navy yard will wear mourning bands for thirty days, the period decreed by President Coolidge.

Last Summer Sadie Cohen, of New York, ran away to Philadelphia with a man and was married. Her mother, Mrs. Helen Cohen, had the marriage annulled. Now though she is only 14, Sadie has been married again, this time to Augustino Costa, a New York City chauffeur, who has been arrested on the charge of abducting her. Two of his friends, who swore at the Marriage License Bureau she was of age, were also arrested.

LIONESS OVERCOMES GUARDS AND KILLS MAN DURING WORK

Rome, Feb. 6.—An enraged lioness yesterday tore and mauled to death an aged Italian, Augusto Palmieri, a "supper in a moving picture company which was filming "Quo Vadis". The entire company witnessed the tragedy.

Several lions and lionesses had been brought into the arena of the Circus Maximus of Nero, which was constructed for the picture. The lioness became highly excited and jumped over the barrier and landed squarely upon Palmieri and began tearing at his flesh and crushing his bones with her huge paws.

Actors and actresses, directors, cameramen and "extras" fled in terror from the arena as the beast was mauling its victim.

The peepers of the lions alone seemed to retain their presence of mind and endeavored to beat back the queen of the jungle into her place inside the arena.

This they were able to accomplish only after they had wounded her several times with their revolver shots.

The old man was almost lifeless when picked up and was dead when he arrived at a hospital.

The police arrested the director of the film play. They say that the company filming the play was without authorization to have the lions in the enclosure.

PUMPS DRAINING MINE WHERE 41 WORKERS KILLED

Bottom Drops Out of Pond Flooding Passage Ways.

Crosby, Minn. Feb. 6.—Two powerful pumps drained an unceasing dirge for the silent group at the mouth of the Milford iron mine today where 41 miners were drowned when the bottom of a small lake literally fell in. It may be a week and it may be several weeks before searching parties are able to enter the mine and bring out the bodies of the men caught in the rush of waters, engineers said.

The miners perished when the bottom fell out of a small pond and flooded the workings of the Milford iron mine, near here, late yesterday.

Caught in the lower levels of the small mine only seven of the crew of 49 at work were able to gain the safety of a skip and ascend to the surface.

Like rats in a trap their comrades died suffocated by the mud and water that gushed through the workings, soaring in the shaft within a few feet of top within 15 minutes.

There was no extended warning; just "a rumble like a thousand automobiles roaring down a distant road," one survivor said.

Then the leaping black wave of death engulfed them, battering its victims against the walls.

Night at the shaft opening found scores of wives and mothers and children, some in frantic tears, others dry-eyed and staring, as helplessness was the men about them to snatch from the murky waters the bodies of their loved ones.

Most of the victims were young men, many of them married, and most of their children who took up the vigil with mothers were tiny tots, clutching in wonderment at their mothers' skirts, awed by the thing that had made them orphans.

The shaft of the mine is 123 feet deep and the main level of the mine is 100 feet beneath the surface of the earth, a drift 1,800 feet long.

North of the mine lies Island Lake and between the mine and this lake was a small pond—to-night much smaller, its shore a mire, for its waters filled the workings of the mine.

POLE PLANTED WITH FLAG AT GERMAN HOUSE

Demonstration Takes Place at Embassy in Wash- ington

Washington, Feb. 6.—Refusal of the German government to put its embassy flag here at half staff in honor of Woodrow Wilson resulted in a demonstration in front of the embassy building early today and the calling out of police reserves.

Just before dawn, nearly 150 taxi drivers, including many ex-service men, assembled at the German embassy, 1435 Massachusetts avenue, and planted a pole in the front lawn, with an American flag at half mast.

Ambassador Otto Wiedefeldt and his staff became aware of the demonstration when a pistol shot—red by someone in the crowd—awakened them. Peering from the windows, they saw the crowd milling around in the avenue and immediately telephoned for the police.

When the reserves arrived in patrol wagons and automobiles the assembled taxi drivers began singing: "The Star Spangled Banner."

The policemen all stood at attention and when the singing was over, ordered the taxi drivers to disperse. They did so, leaving the flag which was later removed by the police. No arrests were made.

"We intended no harm to the embassy or its officials," one of the taxi men said. "We only wanted to show them how to properly honor a citizen of the United States."

Announcement was made at the embassy this morning that the flag would be half masted at 12:30 p.m. when all government departments close in accordance with the executive order of President Coolidge.

Berlin, Feb. 6.—The German government has not sent any instructions to the German embassy at Washington regarding the flag, it was officially announced this afternoon.

A foreign office official said: "No instructions were sent to the German embassy in Washington, not to lower the flag in memory of former President Wilson. That was a matter left entirely to the discretion of Otto Wiedefeldt, the German ambassador."

PRESSURE WILL BE APPLIED TO COLLECT DEBTS

American Debt Commission Expected to Take Defi- nite Step.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Definite pressure upon foreign nations to force payment of their debts to the United States may be exerted soon by the American Debt Commission.

Representative Crisp, of Georgia, member of the commission, declared today that he expected to confer with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to suggest a more definite and active policy toward the creditors of this country.

"Funding of the $9,000,000 debt by Finland, recently approved by Congress, stands as a notice to debtor nations that the United States expects them to pay," Crisp said.

It will be suggested to Secretary Mellon, who is chairman of the Debt Commission, that the board be assembled and that it draft a courteous but firm note to each of the debtor nations, asking that they send representatives to the United States to arrange for funding of debts, according to Crisp. The Georgia representative pointed out that debt payment has a definite relationship to reduction of taxes.

"Today our taxes are higher than those of most of our Allies," Crisp declared. "Our people are being taxed millions of dollars to pay interest on bonds sold to raise money loaned to the Allies. When these loans were made, it was distinctly understood that the borrowing nations would pay interest promptly, that American taxpayers might be relieved of it."

"There is no excuse for debtor nations longer refusing to fund their indebtedness. By this procrastination, they are alienating the sympathy and friendship of American taxpayers."

Crisp assailed France, especially for her failure to fund her $4,000,000,000 debt.

LEGISLATURE NOT TO CONVENE, BELIEF

Columbus, O. Feb. 6.—Possibility of the Legislature reconvening is slight if the opinion of Senator George F. Kryder, Henry County, floor leader of the senate and chairman of the joint committee of the two branches of the Legislature has any weight. He declared a tax relief program is not favored by either the Senate or House and he doubts if they could be induced to agree in subject even if recalled.

MARSHALL TAKES LEAD

Indianapolis, Ind. Feb. 6.—Thomas R. FINAL HONORS PAID TO DEAD EX-PRESIDENT

Woodrow Wilson Laid To Rest In District of Columbia

Washington, Feb. 6.—On the heights of Mount St. Alban, commanding the scenes of his greatest triumphs and his profoundest tragedies, reverent hands laid to rest today, Woodrow Wilson America's great war president, whose spoken word once decided the fate of empires and changed the history of a turbulent world.

Within sight of his final resting place towers the monument that a grateful nation erected to Washington, the founder; the jewel-like memorial to Lincoln, the emancipator; and further on the modest little tomb that marks the eternal sleep of the unknown soldier—a trinity of memories that shall be forever hallowed in America.

For Woodrow Wilson there was no last sad march down historic Pennsylvania avenue, no clattering military, no muffled drums and dirgeful bands, no pomp of power and of display, no passage of a nation's sorrow. In life he had participated in more of those memorable marches down the avenue than ordinarily falls to the lot of presidents, and in death he sought only the peace and quietude that comes when tired men fall asleep.

There was not even an eulogy of him at his bier. He had not wished it. In life he was eulogized and criticized as have been but few of his predecessors and in death it was his wish that the eulogies paid him on this final day be spoken only softly in the hearts of his countrymen.

The last earthly door through which his war-worn body was borne this afternoon was marked "The Way to Peace." The words were chiseled in the cold stone—a reminder that death brings something what life has refused. The little chapel wherein his spirit was consigned to time's keeping, was appropriately Bethlehem chapel. On its walls and windows were depicted the life story of the Prince of Peace, all mankind's long struggle for attainment.

Never has a great American been buried so simply. Present there about his bier this bleak February afternoon were only those his family wished. There was none of that mad scrambling and undignified hustling for points of vantage that have marred solemn occasions in the past. There were friends of a lifetime, there, his college classmates, his children, his intimates, without regard to rank or station in life. Those who had served him well in however humble the capacity, and finally there were the President of the United States and a selected few of the government over which he so long presided. The presence of these latter was the only reminder at the tomb itself of the high place Woodrow Wilson held.

While crowds of reverential mourners gathered this morning in the little hilly street outside his modest home, the body of the former president was removed from the bed on which he died and borne to the small library where he spent most of his waking hours since his retirement from the White House.

In this small library, whose walls are festooned with mementoes of his greatness, there were held this afternoon the briefest and simplest of services. They consumed scarcely more than a few minutes—a psalm, a prayer and the reading of some extracts from a devotional book which he was wont to read daily—and that was all. Then his body was borne down the long stairway and into a hearse for the short trip to the heights of Mount St. Alban, where there was another and similarly brief service.

The national capital itself rendered to Mr. Wilson all the tribute possible. At 3:30 p.m. when the body was lowered into the crypt, tolling bells carried the message and all business halted on the city ceased for two minutes. Street cars and motors halted their traffic, pedestrians uncovered in the street clerks in stores adjourned their labors and the whole city stood still in his memory. The government departments discharged their thousands of workers at 12:30 p.m. that they might participate in the capital ceremonies.

He was buried this afternoon within the boundaries of the District of Columbia, the only one of his office to find a final resting place within the sight of the familiar scenes of his life's greatest work.

BRITISH PREMIER WOULD ADMIT GERMANY AND RUSSIA TO LEAGUE

London, Feb. 6.—Admission of Germany and Russia to the League of Nations was advised today by Premier Ramsay MacDonald in an exclusive interview.

"Ours is not a business man's government, but I claim it is a business government," declared the labor premier as he paced up and down in front of a blazing grate fire in the foreign office. The interview took place at a morning hour when many Londoners had not even breakfasted.

MacDonald continued: "We will not sit by and watch events. We want the League of Nations to become a living force but before this can be done, Germany and Russia must be admitted. There will be difficulty in the case of Russia but Germany's inclusion must be insisted upon. She must receive full and complete recognition on equal terms as a member of the league."

The premier was questioned about the newspaper accusation that recognition of Russia was only "paper recognition." He replied with vigor: "It is absolute; there is nothing to quibble about. We have given Russia our formal recognition, but the fact of diplomatic recognition does not prevent countries from having disputes and differences. For instance we might have a quarrel with some European power and yet not withdraw our diplomatic representative."

FEDERAL TROOPS TO OCCUPY VERA CRUZ IN 24 HOURS IT IS CLAIMED

Mexico City, Feb. 6.—Federal troops will occupy Vera Cruz within 24 hours, it was predicted at the War Department today following receipt of news that the rebels have evacuated their "capital."

When War Secretary Serrano received word that the rebels had departed from Vera Cruz, he ordered the federals stationed at Cordoba to advance upon Vera Cruz forthwith.

Adolfo de La Huerta, civilian chief of the revolution, left Vera Cruz upon the gunboat Zaragoza. One report was that he was going either to Tuxpam or Progreso; another that he was in flight towards Havana.

It was forecast that the crew of the gunboat, realizing that the revolution

“WHEN in the course of business events it becomes necessary to keep out of red ink, the way to do it is to double the volume of business without increasing the overhead. The constant drip of water,

OVERMYER-VANNORSDELL WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

Miss Edith Elizabeth Overmyer, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Calvin Overmyer of Fremont, was married to Mr. William Warren Vannorsdall, of Washington C. H., formerly of Xenia, on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at the Grace Lutheran church in Fremont. The impressive double ring ceremony was read by the pastor, Rev. Walter Eugene Tressel, in the presence of several hundred guests.

The decorations for this early February wedding were expressive of the springtime in the colors of pink and green, which prevailed the effect further enhanced by the lighting of candles.

A program of music, organ and voice, preceded the marriage hour, closing with the sounding of the Loheingrinnal march, played by the organist, Mrs. Albert O'Ferrall.

The wedding party entered the church preceded by the ushers, Mr. James T. Lambin, of Fremont, Mr. Calvin Overmyer, of Lansing, Mich., brother of the bride, and Mr. Gail Vannorsdall, of Washington, brother of the bridegroom.

The bridesmaids, walking together, and preceding the bride and her father who gave her in marriage was the maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Turrell, formerly of Xenia. Mr. Vannorsdall, and his best man, Mr. F. Russell Woodruff, of Fremont, met the bride party at the altar.

The gowns of the bride's attendants were of unusual harmony. Mrs. Overmyer was wearing green, Miss Redell in orchid and gold, and Miss Turrell in rose, flet trimmed. Each wore a black hat of lace and velvet and carried tulle tied arm bouquets of full blown roses.

The bride gown was fashioned in bouffant basque design created in blue and orchid changeable taffeta with gold lace yoke and edging the full skirt. Her hat was of gold lace trimmed with a touch of blue and the long lace drape. Her slippers were of gold brocade. She wore the bridegroom's gift, a platinum and diamond bar pin. The bride's bouquet was a shower of roses and sweetpeas.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were of cologne bottles and the bridegroom's gifts to his men were cuff links.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Overmyer home for only the out-of-town guests. Later Mr. and Mrs. Vannorsdall left on an eastern wedding trip and upon their return will be at home at 422 East Market Street, Washington, C. H.

The bride is a graduate of the Fremont high school, and of the Bowling Green Normal Training School in 1919. She has been teaching in the Fremont schools and the past year was principal of the Junior High School.

Mr. Vannorsdall is a member of Washington high school faculty, instructor of science and coach of athletics. He is a graduate of Antioch College.

Among the out of town guests in attendance were Mrs. D. E. Crow, mother of the bridegroom and Mr. Russell Vannorsdall of Xenia; Mr. Gail Vannorsdall, Mr. Harry Rees, Mr. Forrest Tipton and Mr. Frank Thompson, of Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Weaver entertained a few friends at dinner at their home on West Market Street, Tuesday evening.

Bridge was enjoyed after dinner, Mr. C. S. Frazer, and Mrs. H. L. LeSourd were presented score prizes. There were no out-of-town guests at the affair, which was quite informal.

Mrs. Ralph Haines, of New Hope, near Paintersville, underwent an operation for appendicitis, at the McClellan Hospital, this city, Tuesday night.

THE PROGRESS OF THE WORLD

The opening of a new year brought no marked or dramatic changes in the status of public affairs at home or abroad. The last half of December was repeated in the first half of January. Early December had witnessed the surprising general election in Great Britain, while early January had not yet brought the change of premiership and ministry that was predicted for about the 20th. Mexico had entered upon a civil war which, in the course of a month, had not taken any decisive turn. At Washington, there was nothing going on in early January that was not a mere continuation of what was going on in early December. The Mellon tax proposals and the bonus were still under discussion, with no new ideas or new drifts, and no indication of results. Nothing new had happened in the deadlock between France and Germany. The attitude of the Coolidge Administration toward the Soviet Government of Russia had remained a topic of controversial discussion without any very important actions or disclosures. The political outlook for a presidential year in the United States had not changed in the slightest degree with the lengthening of the days following the winter solstice. The question whether the United States Government should or should not become officially associated with the World Court, was under wide discussion in this country, but without prospect of official action. Men of leadership in commerce and industry have declared that the year 1924 was opening in an auspicious way for general prosperity. The world is not expecting much help from politics or diplomacy at the present time, and is relying rather upon private forms of human endeavor.

A NEW AMBASSADOR FOR THE UNITED STATES

There was some resentment expressed when the Baldwin Ministry, after its signal defeat in the election, suddenly appointed a new Ambassador to the United States, instead of waiting a few days or weeks and permitting its successor to fill the post. It was complained in England that Sir Auckland Geddes had somewhat unduly hastened his resignation, in order that the Conservative Government might fill the Washington post with a man whom it would regard as safe from the standpoint of its own imperial views. This, of course, is a matter of no direct concern to the United States. Sir Auckland Geddes had been advised to take a considerable vacation from official duties in order to make permanent the fortunate restoration of his impaired eye-sight. He has well understood how to live happily in the United States, and has been entirely at home in the atmosphere of Washington, fully understanding the American ways of doing business, and appreciating the straightforwardness and sincerity of the American officials with whom he has had cordial relations. His successor, Sir Esme William Howard, who has for four years been British Ambassador to Spain, is a man of entirely different training from that of Sir Auckland Geddes. The retiring Ambassador is a man of professional, scientific, and educational training and experience, whose remarkable executive ability led the British Government to utilize his services in various public positions during the war period. Sir Esme William Howard, on the other hand, has made his long career in the diplomatic service, and was Minister to Switzerland before entering on service as Minister to Sweden from 1913 to 1919 after which he was promoted to the position of Ambassador at Madrid.

TRAINING OF A BRITISH DIPLOMAT

Sir Esme Howard is sixty years old, and he will soon enter upon the fortieth year of his connection with the British diplomatic service, which he began after a competitive examination in 1885. American readers may like to be told something of the varied experiences of a trained diplomat like the new Ambassador at Washington. He was given a year at Dublin with the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland; then attached to the Embassy at Rome for two years; and next promoted to be Secretary of Embassy at Berlin, remaining in Germany several years. For a time he served in the Foreign Office at London, and later went again to Rome, next becoming Counsellor of Embassy at Washington from 1906 to 1908. He was then successively Consul-General for Crete, Consul-General at Vienna, and Consul-General for Hungary. It was in 1911 that after three years at Vienna and Budapest he became Minister to Switzerland, going to Sweden as Ambassador two years later. He was a member of the British delegation at the Paris Peace Conference, and performed many delicate diplomatic services during the six years of his residence at Copenhagen. Four years of diplomatic life at Madrid observing present conditions in Europe, since the Versailles Treaty have crowned a lifetime of training in international affairs that is almost unrivalled in extent and variety. As a reminder of changes that are taking place in the Near East, it is worth while to note the fact that the first Minister from Egypt to the United States arrived last month. His name is Seifoullah Yoursy Pasha, and he will find himself associated at Washington with a remarkably able body of diplomats from many countries, while doing business with a most courteous and friendly Department of State.

DO YOU KNOW WHERE LENINGRAD IS?

Only ten years ago very few indeed would have ventured the forecast that the name of St. Petersburg, well known to everyone as the capital of the great Russian Empire, might twice be changed in the decade. Yet, with decision of the Petrograd Soviet to call the city Leningrad, this metamorphosis appears likely to be brought to pass. When Peter the Great founded this city, he built it as little more than a collection of wooden huts. Later it grew in majesty and importance until tourists from all over the world regarded it as one of the greatest sights of the continent. As such the name became so familiar that the idea of its ever being changed seemed almost unthinkable. Ten years will often work wonders, however, in many unexpected directions.

WHO WILL WEAR IT?

1904--Twenty Years Ago--1924

"The Sign of the Cross" will play a special engagement at the Xenia Opera House February 10.

Now that the spring thaws have come the streets of Xenia are again assuming the condition of liquid mud and pedestrians are forced to wade through it at the peril of being swamped. Plans were completed for lateral sewers by the Board of Public Service last night.

The new Citizens telephone exchange at Bowersville is now in operation and starts off with a bright outlook.

The Y. M. C. A. hall was packed to the doors last night to hear Miss Olof Kruger, the native Eskimo lady, tell of life in the frozen north.

Nourishing Cream of Wheat:—Make the cereal with milk instead of with water, and just before serving stir in one beaten egg. Serve with cream.

Baked Toast:—Cut thin slices of bread butter them, lay them in a baking pan and pour over them a little sweet milk. Bake in a very hot oven till brown, then serve.

Souffle Potato Cup:—Bake a large potato and cut from the top a generous slice. Scoop out the interior, mash well, season to suit individual taste, then mix with it the stiffly-beaten white of one egg. Refill the empty skin, letting it heap up well on top (do not replace top slice) brown in oven and serve.

Date-Oatmeal Molds:—Make oatmeal in the usual way and when creamy and thoroughly cooked, stir in chopped dates to the proportion of one cup of stoned chopped dates to a pint of oatmeal. While still hot, turn the mixture into small cups to cool and mold. Serve one of these little molds, turned out of its cup, as the dessert of one meal. As the oatmeal is not sweetened, serve powdered sugar with it, and cream.

Bread-Chicken Custard:—Butter two small individual baking dishes or ramekins, and put into them the following mixture: two tablespoons of minced cooked chicken, two tablespoons of bread crumbs, one egg, one cup of sweet milk and one-fourth teaspoon of salt. Beat the egg well, add the milk and salt then pour this over the chicken and bread crumbs. Stir well before putting this in the ramekins. Set the ramekins in a shallow pan filled with hot water, and place this pan in a moderate oven. The water surrounding the ramekins must not boil while in the oven or the custard will "wey." Bake one hour, or until the custard is "set."

Egg-Nest:—Toast a good-sized round of bread, but do not butter it. Separate one egg, beating the white stiff with a pinch of salt. Now pile the frothy white on the toast in the shape of a nest. Make a hole in the center of this "nest" and put one-third teaspoon of butter and the egg-yolk into it. Slip this into a moderate oven to bake from six to eight minutes (it should not bake so long that the egg is tough and leathery—only till the egg is congealed). Serve at once.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

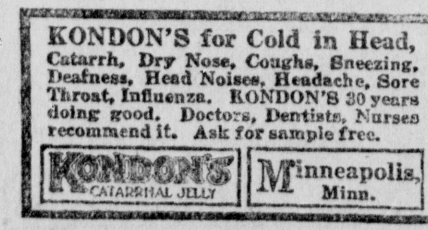

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 3 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugist; pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your drugist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Today's Talks

THOUGHTS

Your most precious possessions are your thoughts. Make no mistake—there is nothing so powerful for good or evil as thoughts.

How lonely we all get at times. But it is mostly because we dismiss our thoughts and flounder in the emptiness of our own selfishness.

Thoughts! Why, we can take them with us everywhere we go. Into the quiet hotel room where we so often find ourselves away from friends and from those near and dear to us. At night time as we pull the covers of our bed about us and review day during its last, brief moments. Or on the street as we go and come from work. Or out for a walk with these same thoughts scampering all about, like children running before and behind us.

These little brothers of the mind that trot with us wherever we go—these thoughts that make us all we are or hope to be—are able to thrill us with their beauties, inspire us, comfort us, soothe us and make us a blessing wherever we go.

I like the simple thoughts. I like the simple prayers. I like the simple friends who take us as we are. I like the simple beauties of the field—the tiny flower that is unnoticed by the many who tread it under foot.

I like to think of God in simple language. I don't like to think of Him as the "Almighty" or anything like that—but just as the One who understands and who forgives seventy times seventy over and over again.

I can send thoughts up to One like that and not be afraid they will be misunderstood.

The thoughts of my mother, so long gone away, are always simple, beautiful thoughts for there was nothing mysterious or mistakable about her love.

Clothe your mind with thoughts. And build great storehouses for them, with big doors so that you may get them easily and quickly.

If you are rich in great thoughts, you are rich indeed. And when you have gone the entire world will share in your estate.

Styles BY LENORE

These young flappers! There's no keeping ahead of them. For example one of the most charming caprices of fashion recently, has been the use, in an unusual way, of metal initialed accessories, an initial cloche being the newest innovation. Now along comes the baby flapper; not only does she adopt the idea, but outdoes her mother by wearing her full first name right in the front of her little frock. Who will deny that the ways of grown-ups are as "two steps forward, one step back" compared to the lively pace displayed by tots in keeping up with the fashions?

Porcelain blue crepe de chine is used to develop this little frock. The little yoke and name tag, the hem, sleeves and scarf are pale yellow, and there are French knots in blue to soften the joining of the two colors. "Ann" is spelled out in silver letters. If you do not care to go to the trouble of obtaining these from a jeweler—the expenses is slight—embroidery may be substituted.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

THE SAFEST BONDS ARE SOMETIMES FOUND AT LOW PRICES

Price alone is no indication of safety in a bond. Even Liberty bonds, which are one of the standards of safety, declined in 1920.

Liberty Bonds are one of the standards of safety, yet the price fell to about $85 in 1920. The reason for the drop would cause a decline in cotton or any other commodity. There were simply too many sellers.

Did any one think in 1920 that the government of the United States was less stable, powerful, sound, honest or solvent than it was in 1918, or than it is today?

No. The only change was in the attitude of the investors. Men and women who had economized to buy bonds in 1918 preferred luxuries or something else in 1920. When the yield was attractive enough to make investors forsake luxuries for Liberty Bonds, the price started up again.

There are times when even the best bonds sell at low prices. Consequently price alone is no indication of safety.

STEWART WILL IS FILED IN PROBATE COURT ON TUESDAY

The will of Daniel M. Stewart, late Xenia banker, admitted to probate Tuesday by Judge J. Carl Marshall, makes his son-in-law Charles M. Kelso, his daughter, Belle Stewart Kelso and his granddaughter, Mary Stewart Kelso, beneficiaries.

No inventory was filed with the will but an estimate of the personal property places it at $23,000. Belle Stewart Kelso and John A. Nisbet were appointed executors in a codicil and furnished $25,000 bond, and George Little, J. A. Finney and C. A. Weaver were named appraisers.

The will bequeaths to Charles M. Kelso, an undivided interest in National land, covering an extension of 256 hectares, situated in the jurisdiction of the town of Onavias, District of Ures, State of Sonora, Mexico, and fixes the boundaries by other ranches in the district.

All of the residue of the property, both real and personal, is given to the testator's daughter, Belle Stewart Kelso and granddaughter, Mary Stewart Kelso. The share of Mary Stewart Kelso will be held in trust until she is 22 years of age, and Belle Stewart Kelso was appointed trustee with full power to manage the estate and invest in United States, county and municipal bonds.

The codicil provides for the erection of a suitable monument at the testator's grave. The will was executed October 16, 1923 with J. C. Huston, now dead and J. O. McDorman, witnesses. The codicil was executed in December, 1923, and witnessed by J. A. Finney and Jessie Carruthers.

WILL FILED HERE

Copies of the will of Aaron Spangler, admitted to probate in Clark Co., devising certain real estate in Greene County, have been admitted to record here.

EXECUTRIX APPOINTED

Margaret B. Dean has been appointed executrix of the estate of Ellen G. Baker, and has furnished $3,000 bond in Probate Court.

NO TAX IS DUE

No inheritance tax will be paid on the estate of Jane Carpenter, according to a journal entry in Probate Court. The gross value of the estate was $1,949 and the debts and costs of administration $685 leaving $1,264 for distribution in six shares, of $210.66 each, each being less than the exemption allowed by law.

ONLY ONE WAY TO SALVATION SAYS MINISTER TUESDAY

"There is only one way to salvation and that is the official way through Jesus Christ," declared Dr. John A. Wilson in his sermon at the Second United Presbyterian Church Tuesday evening.

"You do not go to a railroad station and ask any chance person sitting around what time your train goes. If you did they would send you to Columbus where lunatics belong. But you ask the agent or the information bureau and then you get the official answer to your question."

"When it comes to salvation, however, the world is full of people who refuse to get information from the one appointed to direct us. There is only one Advocate but there are many half-brained, moon-struck men and women, some of them of both sexes, who devise new, unheard of ways of salvation such as God Almighty never thought of. And there are plenty of fools to follow them. But there is only one authoritative voice to direct us to the way, and that is Jesus Christ. He is the Way and the Truth and the Life."

"It was never God's plan that any soul should continue in sin. We may fall into sin but there is a way of escape. The swallow dips down into the water and immerses itself in water but flies back to its natural element without delay. It would never live in water. The soul may fall into sin but it must get back into Grace or it will die."

Dr. Wilson will speak Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

DENVER J. HAPNER DIES AT HOME ON TUESDAY AFTERNOON

As the result of an attack of grip and a complication of diseases, Denver J. Hapner, 35, conductor on the Pennsylvania railroad, between Springfield and Dayton, died at his home on Washington Street, formerly the W. C. Hutchinson property, Tuesday afternoon at 3:50 o'clock. He had been ill for ten days.

Mr. Hapner had resided in Xenia for 14 years, and recently purchased the Hutchinson property. He was born in West Sonora, Preble County, Ohio. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jessie Black Hapner, three children, Bonalyn, Emma Alice, and D. J. Hapner, Junior, and two brothers, William Hapner, of Illinois, and Martin Hapner, of Dayton.

Mr. Hapner was a member of Xenia Lodge Loyal Order of Moose No. 1629, and was connected with the various railroad organizations. Funeral services will be held at the late home, Friday morning at ten o'clock, in charge of the Rev. G. A. Scott, of the First M. E. Church, with interment at Woodland Cemetery. Friends may call at the home Thursday afternoon after three o'clock.

SHIP 300-POUND RAM TO MONTANA

J. C. Williamson and son, shipped one of their Oxford rams, Monday evening to Manhattan, Mont. The sheep weighed nearly 300 pounds, and was first prize winner among Oxford rams last fall at the Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky state fairs.

Mr. Niven who purchased the sheep, was at the Williamson farm about eight years ago and bought 14 head, shipping them through by freight. The sheep shipped Monday went by express, on a three-day trip, at $9.50 per hundred pounds, making over $20 express charges for the sheep and crata.

APPOINTMENT IS WITHDRAWN

BUSINESS PLACE IS PADLOCKED BY LOCAL OFFICIALS

Under a temporary restraining order allowed by Probate Judge J. C. Marshall in the absence of Judge R. L. Gowdy of Common Pleas Court, the business place at 108 E. Main Street, owned by Richard and Edward Hurst and leased by Paul Edwards, was padlocked Tuesday afternoon by Chief of Police M. E. Graham and Sheriff Morris Sharp.

The temporary order was allowed on a petition filed by Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson under the terms of the "padlock law," declaring the place a common and public nuisance subject to abatement because it had been used for the possession and sale of intoxicating liquor contrary to law.

The petition asked for a temporary restraining order pending hearing of the case, which was allowed by Judge Marshall and upon the final hearing asks that the injunction be made perpetual for one year from the date of the final decree.

The officers fastened a hasp to the front door of the establishment, to which they affixed and locked a padlock. Later, notice of the action was served on the owners.

INVESTIGATION OF WILBERFORCE FIRE NOT MADE PUBLIC

Results of an examination into the cause of the fire that destroyed B. F. Lee Hall, boys' dormitory at Wilberforce University last Thursday were not made known by J. E. McGinn and Michael Powers, deputy fire marshals, at the conclusion of their probe Tuesday.

The state officers with Prosecutor J. K. Williamson examined a number of witnesses, including officials, former officials and students of the university before Miss Elsie Canby, Court stenographer, in her office Tuesday, the probe lasting practically all day.

Both officials left Xenia Tuesday evening but will return later, when it is expected, the results of their investigations will be made public. No further arrests have been made. Gerald Coleman, former academic student at the university, who was held on suspicion, was released by authorities after he had been questioned by the state officers.

DISTRICT PHONE MEETING WILL BE HELD FEBRUARY 14

F. W. Cleaver, commercial manager of the Xenia branch of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, Charles Cross, Xenia plant chief and Miss Stella M. Tubey, chief operator of the Xenia Exchange, will attend the southern Ohio district meeting in Dayton Thursday, February 14, it is announced.

H. E. Allen, district manager, is chairman of the committee on arrangements for the meeting. Among officials expected to be present are: C. P. Cooper, president; Randolph Elide, general manager; John Upchurch, vice president and general auditor; C. L. McNaughton, secretary-treasurer; R. G. Pate and D. H. Morris, assistants to the president; E. J. Farrell and W. L. Cary, assistant secretaries; G. A. Kisilsky, chief engineer; W. G. Barry, general commercial superintendent; F. H. Stephens, general superintendent of plant; James F. Carroll Jr., general superintendent of traffic; W. C. Newton, division commercial superintendent; J. W. Cherry, division plant superintendent and Walter Malloy, division traffic superintendent.

CANDIDATES INCREASED
Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 6.—Republican candidates for gubernatorial nomination were increased to five today with the formal announcement of Ed Jackson, secretary of state. Others who have already announced their candidacy are Mayor Lew Shank of Indianapolis; Mayor Ore Davis of Terre Haute; E. C. Toner of Anderson and Edgar D. Bush of Salem.

REPORTS ARE DENIED
Moscow, Feb. 6.—Vice Commissar Rothstein of the foreign ministry today denied reports of Russian unrest, saying they were being circulated in outside countries in an effort to offset the benefits of Russian recognition.

Thomas W. Gregory Democrat, of Austin, Texas, for five years Attorney-General in the cabinet of President Woodrow Wilson, had been selected by President Coolidge to be one of his special counsel to prosecute an criminal or civil actions resulting from the Senate's investigation into the leasing of naval oil lands. The appointment was later withdrawn. The other is Silas H. Strawn, of Chicago, Republican, past president of the Illinois Bar Association and the Chicago Bar Association and now member of the Committee on Legal Education of the American Bar Association.

COMMISSIONER AT CAPITAL; DONAHEY ADDRESSES MEETING

John A. North, president of the Greene County Board of County Commissioners, attended the forty-third annual convention of the County Commissioners' Association of Ohio at Columbus, Tuesday.

Commissioners George N. Perrill and Herman Eavey were unable to attend the meeting, which was addressed by Governor Vic Donahey, who recommended a central purchasing agent be appointed in every county to solve what he termed, a system of inefficient purchasing now in effect.

Co-operation between the State Highway Department and county commissioners was urged by State Highway Director Boulay. Co-operation, he said, if a budget, now inadequate is to be distributed fairly. Mayor Thomas made the address of welcome Tuesday to which Jerry R. Zmunt, of Cleveland, president, responded. Former Governor Davis opened Wednesday morning's session with an address and addresses were also scheduled from Fred H. Caley, secretary of the National Motorists Association and Thurman Miller, Wilmington newspaperman.

There were no local commissioners at Wednesday's session.

ASK SUBSCRIBERS TO PAY FOR PAPER WHEN BOY CALLS

City subscribers of The Evening Gazette are being asked to aid carrier boys in the collection of their routes each Saturday morning, instead of Saturday night as announced yesterday.

The boys are required to make an accounting at the office each week, and it is necessary for them to have collected from the people they serve, patrons are requested to have their money ready for the boy when he calls Saturday morning.

Co-operation in this matter is of chief importance to the carrier, who is required to settle weekly for his papers. Delays in payment on his route require explanations at the office and reflect on the boy. You can help the carrier by paying promptly.

BILLARD MATCH ON

The Jones and Faulkner pocket billiard team will take on the crack Jamestown team here Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock. The match will be 400 points. Albert Robinette who shot a good stick against Cedarville last week will be on the local team. Charles Kafory, Otho Painter and Cliff Hoag will also be on hand.

Washington, Feb. 6.—William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury and Mrs. McAdoo, who was Miss Eleanor Wilson, second daughter of the former president, arrived here this morning to attend the ex-president's funeral services.

TO OPPOSE FASCISTI

Rome, Feb. 6.—Former Premier Giolitti, former Premier Orlando and Signor Denicola, former president of the chamber, today refused to join Premier Mussolini's electoral lists. They will oppose the Fascisti at the Polls in April.

Girl Flyer Astonishes

Paris, Feb. 6.—Denise Collin brought confusion among the ranks of the aviation laboratory experts recently when she landed successfully from an airplane flying more than 100 miles an hour with the aid of a parachute weighing only twelve pounds.

"These little parachutes are highly dangerous. The mere shock of the cord when they unfold is given by the dynamometer as 1,500 pounds, which is enough to kill any human being," said the experts.

HEAD COLDS VICKS VAPORUB

Melt in spoon; inhale vapors; apply freely up nostrils. Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly.

A tempting, delicious looking meal, a well stocked pantry. The fragrant aroma of all these good things failing to put a keen edge on your appetite—falling to arouse, in any degree, a hearty relish for the food so attractively placed before you. Why? Scores of men and women are faced with the same misfortune. After a day of toil—when they are tired—when good things to eat should be ravenously sought to recharge their vitality and fit them for play time—their stomachs turn. They are worn down, played out. Food has no appeal. To them it is sickening. The aroma of appetizing things nauseates them.

Red blood cells are missing. Red blood which should be coursing through your veins strengthening your vitality—adding to your strength—keeping you healthy and fit—is not to be found.

S. S. S. is what is needed. Your blood needs purifying. What use is an automobile without a battery? What advantage is a dynamo without electricity? Your body is a human dynamo. Your blood cells supply the energy which keeps your body well and fit. Weakened blood cells make you like the storage battery with dry cells—power is lacking—energy gone—productive qualities at the lowest ebb. S. S. S. supplies the red blood cells—the spark that recharges your system.

Mr. James Chaloupka, Sherman School, Chillicothe, Ohio, writes: "I feel like a new man after taking S. S. S. It gave me a better appetite and cleared my skin of pimples and blackheads."

Carefully selected, scientifically proportioned and prepared herbs and barks make up S. S. S.—the great blood purifier. Give nature a helping hand. Get back the lost appetite—the missing vitality—the keen, sparkling eyes—that look of determination. The best way to start back over the road to well being is with S. S. S. Nerves will become stronger. S. S. S. will give you more energy, vitality and vigor, and a more "up and going" appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all leading drug stores. Try a bottle and see for your self. The large size bottle is more economical. Get one today.

GREENE COUNTY REPUBLICANS TO ATTEND LINCOLN DAY BANQUET

Greene County Republicans, both men and women are expected to attend the Lincoln Day banquet to be held February 11, at Memorial Hall, Springfield, when Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, will be the speaker.

Republicans are expected to be present at the affair from Columbus, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dayton, Lima and other cities besides the smaller communities and reservations for the dinner are now being made. N. H. Fairbanks, of Springfield, is handling publicity for the event.

A formal invitation has been extended to Greene County Republicans through L. T. Marshall chairman of the Greene County Republican Executive Committee. Mr. Marshall will make reservations for Greene County people who expect to attend, if they will communicate with him.

In connection with the address of the evening, Senator Frank B. Willis, Ohio's senior Senator, has written Mr. Fairbanks as follows:

"Recalling the arrangement that has already been made for the big meeting to be held in Springfield on February 11, to be addressed by Honorable James E. Watson, United States Senator from Indiana, I am writing you to urge that the fullest publicity be given to this meeting.

"Senator Watson is one of the big men of the country; one of the best speakers I have ever heard. Springfield is exceedingly fortunate in securing his attendance. This I know personally, because I have made effort many times to secure his services as speaker for Republican meetings, and I know how greatly he is in demand. He will give a most inspiring address; full of information as to the achievements of the Republican Administration. I trust Memorial Hall will be packed, and that this meeting will be the greatest held by the District and in Clark County for many years. I know you will be putting forth your best efforts without any word from me, and yet, the importance of this meeting is so great that I have ventured to write you that you may know of my personal interest in its success.

The committee is urging the attendance of women at the affair and many from Greene County are expected to attend. Following the dinner the doors to the balcony will be open to the public free, in order to accommodate as great a number as possible for the address.

SEN. JAMES E. WATSON

DRINK WATER IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

Begin Taking Salts if You Feel Backachy or Have Bladder Weakness

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush out the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

By all means, drink lots of good water every day. Have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

BIG SAVINGS MADE THROUGH RESEARCH

Modern Laboratory Supplants Garret Genius.

Herbert Hoover's recent assertion that discovery and invention are no longer the function of the garret genius is borne out by the facts of modern industry, according to the American Chemical society, which has assembled data showing national enrichment through organized research. Sugar, water supply, bread making, X-rays, electric lighting, waste material and artificial silk are spheres in which research has earned huge dividends, it is declared.

"The life of locomotive boilers has been lengthened sevenfold and the coal consumed in operation reduced by many millions of tons per year through the application of research to water supply on our railroads," says the society in a summary of American achievements in research. "The life of a locomotive firebox costing $1,700 on a certain bad water was two years. After treating the water properly to prevent corrosion the steel lasted 14 years, making a saving of more than $700 per locomotive per year.

"Waste utilized to prevent other waste is often the result of research. Ten tons more cane an acre, equivalent to one ton raw sugar, and 50 to 70 per cent less labor in the field, has followed the use of a paper made from waste cane bagasse in the cane fields of Hawaii to prevent the growth of weeds.

"Organized and continuous research on the lighting problem has produced types of lamps with which this country's lighting bill in a single year is $1,500,000 less than the cost of the same amount of light if the best lamps available less than 20 years ago had been used. This represents a saving, among other things, of 25,000,000 tons of coal.

"Through research wood pulp and other cellulose materials valued at approximately 5 cents a pound have been converted into artificial silk valued at an average of $2.50 a pound. The value of the artificial silk produced in the United States is now about $45,000,000 a year.

"The modern efficient X-ray tube is distinctly a product of research, and is becoming more and more a tool for further research. Its uses in treating disease, in watching the functions of the vital organs in the human body and in detecting foreign substances in living and inanimate bodies are well known. The use of X-rays in determining the constitution of matter (space arrangement of atoms in the molecules) is still in its infancy, but results already achieved indicate that future accomplishments in this field will be of extreme importance in the solution of this problem.

Four generations of rats have subsisted normally on a new bread product developed through research, it was said. These rats are far more robust on this "complete diet" than another group of rats fed on the bread of previous processes. Experiments on human beings are now in progress.

Another triumph of research, says the society, is a food for yeast consisting of a mixture of mineral salts, which, it is claimed, prevents a yearly waste in the fermentation process of 200,000 barrels of flour, 30,000 barrels of sugar and 15,000,000 pounds of yeast. The total savings aggregate $5,000,000 annually.

Desperate Case.

The medical student was listening to the conversation of two hospital surgeons.

"After the crash," one of them was saying, "I ran over to where it lay on the pavement, and when I raised it up I saw at once that several ribs were smashed, while a gaping hole was torn in the—"

The student was keen on accident cases and here he broke in:

"Excuse me, doctor," he said, "but if you have no objection I'd like to take a few notes of this case."

He pulled his notebook out of his pocket and asked:

"Was it a man or a woman?"

"Neither," the surgeon informed him. "I was talking about my umbrella."

WARNS AGAINST BEGGAR

Mrs. L. R. Robertson, executive secretary of the Social Service League, is cautioning housewives and business men not to give funds or articles to a woman who is begging from door to door, for a family, recently left destitute by a fire. The woman has been told by league officials and by Chief of Police M. E. Graham to go to the league for funds, instead of begging. "The only way to curb begging is for the public to refuse to give," Mrs. Robertson said.

SEVEN CLUBS IN SAME LOOP SEEK PITCHERS

New York, Feb. 6—No deal got beyond the rumor stage of extreme adolescence at the American League schedule meeting in Boston, owing to the fact that seven clubs in an eight-club circuit are seeking one and the same thing: viz: to wit and namely: Pitchers.

This was the opinion expressed today by Edward G. Barrow, business manager of the New York Yankees, upon his return from the scene of activity, if any. Edward can take a philosophic view of the situation. He happens to be hooked up with the only club in the league that is immune from the great drought responsible for turning the American league into a one-team proposition.

"Intra-league deals have come to nothing for the past year or so because every manager except Huggins is after pitchers," Barrow said. "There can be no basis arrived at for a trade as long as every man is after the same thing. They have even tried to get some of our pitchers away from us but Huggins knows he is sitting pretty and has no intention of breaking up an all star staff. It looks as though the situation will remain as it is in the American league until a flock of young pitchers is developed."

A glance over the seven remaining clubs in the league serves to confirm Barrow's analysis. The Detroit Tigers claim they would run one, two, this season, if they could fall heir to a real second baseman. They might have been able to get Dykes from Connie Mack if it wasn't for the fact that the latter is not after pitchers and the Tigers have none to spare; in fact are just a bit inadequate in this respect.

The Athletics, as stated, are sitting tight behind their line-up, except that Mack wants at least one more capable pitcher. This speaker, out in Cleveland, could stand three or more and would not countenance a deal that did not include a first class hurler or so. The Senators also figure they would finish in the first division with a couple of fetching young men to help Walter Johnson. The Browns provided Sisler returned to the game, would be real contenders with a fair staff of men grouped around Urban Shocker and the White Sox. In addition to needing a shortstop, must get more pitching strength if they hope to figure at all.

It was the collapse of their staff that ruined the Sox last year and nothing has been done about it in the meantime. And, according to Barrow, nothing can be done about it since nearly every club seeks exactly what the Sox are seeking. Even the Red Sox claim to be more or less satisfied with their present array, except in the box. It is nothing but a repetition of the old story that a team is no stronger than its pitchers, and if this is the case, the American league faces the prospect of another run-away race with the Yankees cake-walking in front.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHT'S

NEW YORK—Floyd Johnson, Iowa, knocked out Jack Douglas, New York, first round; Ted Jamieson, England, won decision over Silent Puryear, New York, ten rounds.

BOSTON—Lou Bogash, Bridgeport, Conn., outpointed Frank Moody, England, in ten rounds; Archie Walker, New York, defeated Ted Merchant, England, eight rounds.

Protege of Osborne Arrested Again.

Victor Nelson

Victor Nelson, 25, of Malden, Mass., was recently paroled from the Massachusetts State Prison at Charlestown, through the efforts of Thomas Mott Osborne, millionaire New York penologist, and others prominent in Boston. Now he is under arrest at Auburn, N. Y., charged with having held up and robbed his benefactor, Thomas Barry.

EAST HIGH WILL MEET OLD RIVAL ON LOCAL COURT

East High School basketball team will meet an old rival Friday evening at the East High gym when it hooks up with the crack Hi Y team of Columbus.

These teams have met four times on the court and out of the quartet of battles the local team has won one lone contest. This was last season on the locals' own battle-grounds. The score was 40 to 36 and it was a hard fought struggle. East met the Columbus outfit twice more that same season. The first meeting the East End gang lost by a 46 to 32 score. The next time was in the colored high school tournament at Columbus, and the Hi Y team again turned the trick by a 32 to 27 score. Again this season the locals journeyed to Columbus and once more were dished out a lacing by a 20 to 19 score.

Coach Lewis has been drilling his charges hard during the past week and is confident with his regular team on deck that the local school can take the Columbus lads' measure. There will be a prelin which will get under way at 7:30 o'clock. The admission will be 50 cents.

YOUNG RATED AS HOLDOUT

New York, Feb. 6—It was reported in baseball circles today that Ross Young, star outfielder of the New York Giants, is a holdout. Young received his 1924 contract more than a month ago but to date nothing has been heard from the player at the Giant's offices.

GIVES 11 REASONS FOR ATTENDING OF CHURCH SERVICES

J. M. Switzer, former mayor of Dayton, brought out several interesting points in his address on "Why I Go To Church," at the men's dinner held at the Clifton Presbyterian Church Tuesday night. He gave the following reasons: first, to worship God; second, to gain a knowledge of God's word; third, to promote religious education; fourth, to strengthen his belief in Jesus Christ; fifth, to stimulate thoughts of really great things; sixth, to be encouraged to give and serve; seventh, to encourage his pastor; eighth, to set an example to others; ninth, to associate with other Christians; tenth, to promote social welfare; eleventh, because the church is the one institution which points the way to eternal salvation.

Fifty men attended the dinner which was served by the women of the church. The Rev. W. H. Telford, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, this city, attended the affair. The Rev. W. P. Harriman, of the Reformed Church of Cedarville, led in the opening prayer.

MRS. EMMA MOORE DIES LATE TUESDAY

After an illness of several months from a dropsical condition, Mrs. Emma Moore, 73, wife of R. W. Moore, passed away at her home, 125 East Market Street, Tuesday at midnight.

Mrs. Moore was born in Jamestown, November 8, 1851, and spent all of her life in Greene County. She was a member of the Second United Presbyterian Church, this city. Besides her husband, one brother, Al Wickersham, of Denver, Colorado, who is now visiting in Jamestown, his former home, survives.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon, at the late home, at 2:30 o'clock, and will be private. Interment will be made in Woodland Cemetery.

MR. LEVY V. SMITH
Clarksburg, W. Va.

"I have had a weak stomach for many years and have had to observe the greatest caution in what I ate. Almost any kind of fresh meat upset me and caused me to suffer from indigestion," declared Mr. Levy V. Smith, Stonewall Park, Clarksburg, W. Va. (P. O., Nutter Fort) to the Ka-di-ok expert recently. He further said:

"I have taken a great many stomach remedies, but in all my experience have never found anything to equal Ka-di-ok. Since I started on the first bottle a week or two ago I have been eating hearty and have not been bothered with stomach trouble in any way, shape or form. I have always taken cathartics of some kind or other for constipation, but now my bowels are regular and give me no further concern."

"I am approaching the three score mark, but Ka-di-ok has made me feel as spry and active as I was twenty years ago."

"From my personal experience I can corroborate all the claims made for it by other stomach sufferers. I have never found anything to equal it."

Any one of the following symptoms may denote the presence of a deranged stomach: Indigestion, coated tongue, sour stomach, gas or bloated feeling after meals, sleeplessness, poor appetite, constipation, headache, dizzy spells, restlessness, and no energy.

Ka-di-ok can be had in Xenia at Sayre and Hemphill Drug Store.

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Evil Shepherd

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Indecision had never been one of Francis Ledsam's faults, but four times during the following day he wrote out a carefully worded telegraphic message to Mrs. Oliver Hilditch, 10 b, Hill Street, regretting his inability to dine that night, and each time he destroyed it. He carried the first message around Richmond golf course with him, intending to dispatch his caddy with it immediately on the conclusion of the round. The fresh air, however, and the concentration required by the game, seemed to dispel the nervous apprehensions with which he had anticipated his visit, and over an aperitif in the club bar he tore the telegram into small pieces and found himself even able to derive a certain half-fearful pleasure from the thought of meeting again the woman who, together with her terrible story, had never for one moment been out of his thoughts. Andrew Wilmore, who had observed his action, spoke of it as they settled down to lunch.

"So you are going to keep your engagement tonight, Francis?" he observed.

The latter nodded.

"After all, why not?" he asked, a little defiantly. "It ought to be interesting."

"Well, there's nothing of the sordid criminal, at any rate, about Oliver Hilditch," Wilmore declared. "Neither, if one comes to think of it, does his wife appear to be the prototype of suffering virtue. I wonder if you are wise to go, Francis?"

"Why not?" the man who had asked himself that question a dozen times already, demanded.

"Because," Wilmore replied coolly, "underneath that steely hardness of manner for which your profession is responsible, you have a vein of sentiment, of chivalrous sentiment, I should say, which some day or other is bound to get you into trouble. The woman is beautiful enough to turn any one's head. As a matter of fact, I believe that you are more than half in love with her already."

Francis Ledsam sat where the sunlight fell upon his strong, forceful face, shone, too, upon the table with its simple but pleasant appointments, upon the tankard of beer by his side, upon the plate of roast beef to which he was already doing ample justice. He laughed with the easy confidence of a man awakened from some haunting nightmare, relieved to find his feet once more firm upon the ground.

"I have been a fool to take the whole matter so seriously, Andrew," he declared. "I expect to walk back to Chorges street tonight, disillusioned. The man will probably present me with a gold pencil case, and the woman—" "Well, what about the woman?" Wilmore asked, after a brief pause.

"Oh, I don't know!" Francis declared, a little impatiently. "The woman is the mystery, of course. Probably my brain was a little over-excited when I came out of court, and what I imagined to be an epic was nothing more than a tissue of exaggerations from a disappointed wife. However, I'm sure I'm doing the right thing to go there."

The two men returned to town together afterwards, Wilmore to the club and Francis to his rooms in Chorges street to prepare for dinner. At a few minutes to eight he rang the bell of number 10 b, Hill street, and found his host and hostess awaiting him in the small drawing-room into which he was ushered. It seemed to him that the woman, still colorless, again marvelously gowned, greeted him coldly. His host, however, was almost too effusive. There was no other guest, but the prompt announcement of dinner dispelled what might have been a few moments of embarrassment after Oliver Hilditch's almost too cordial greeting. The woman laid her fingers upon her guest's coat sleeve. The trio crossed the little hall almost in silence.

Dinner was served in a small white Georgian dining room, with every appearance of almost sybaritic luxury. The only light in the room was thrown upon the table by two purple-shaded electric lamps, and the servants who waited seemed to pass backwards and forwards like shadows in some mysterious twilight—even the faces of the three diners themselves were out of the little pool of light until they leaned forward. The dinner was chosen with taste and restraint, the wines were not only costly but rare. A watchful butler, attended now and then by a trim parlor maid, superintended the service. Only once, when she ordered a bowl of flowers removed from the table, did their mistress address either of them. Conversation after the first few amenities speedily became almost a monologue. One man talked whilst the others listened, and the man who talked was Oliver Hilditch. He possessed the rare gift of imparting color and actuality in a few phrases to the strange places of which he spoke, of bringing the very thrill of strange happenings into the shadowy room. It seemed that there was scarcely a country of the world which he had not visited, a country, that is to say, where men congregate, for he admitted from the first that he was a city worshiper, that the empty places possessed no charm for him.

"I am not even a sportsman," he confessed once, half apologetically, in reply to a question from his guest. My only desire has been to reach the next place where men and women were. Some day we will talk of them."

"Tell me," Francis asked his host, during one of the brief pauses in the conversation, "have you ever tried to analyze this interest of yours in human beings and crowded cities, this hatred of solitude and empty spaces?" Oliver Hilditch smiled thoughtfully, and gazed at a salted almond which he was just balancing between the tips of his fingers.

"I think," he said simply, "it is because I have no soul."

A stubborn motor may be due to stubborn gas

A stubborn obstinate mule has nothing on the motor that's been imposed upon by a logy, lifeless gasoline. It's a hard starting "animal".

Cold weather adds enough to the difficulties of starting, even with good gasoline. Columbus Gasoline tames the stubborn mulsish motor in short order. Too little thought is given to the selection of a pure, all-power fuel like Columbus Gasoline. Use it once. After that you'd drive a long way to get Columbus Gas. But you won't need to—filling stations are conveniently located.

Commence today to take the "mule" out of your car with a peppy, powerful tank full of Columbus Gasoline.
